DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. The numbering of claims is not in accordance with 37 CFR 1.126 which requires the original numbering of the claims to be preserved throughout the prosecution. When claims are canceled, the remaining claims must not be renumbered. When new claims are presented, they must be numbered consecutively beginning with the number next following the highest numbered claims previously presented (whether entered or not).

Misnumbered claims 21-23 have been renumbered 24-26.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 4 thru 8, and 24 thru 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Takao et al. 4,917,471. Takao discloses (see, for example, FIG. 2) a liquid crystal display comprising a first substrate 12, second substrate 13, first orientation film 18, second orientation film 17, color filters R, G, B, and liquid crystal 14. The second orientation film has first, second, and third thicknesses with correspondingly the greatest thickness (first thickness) over the highest blue filter, a medium thickness (second thickness) over the medium green filter, and the smallest thickness (third thickness) over the smallest red filter. Regarding claim 7, see, for example, column 4, line 2 wherein Takao states the liquid crystal as ferroelectric. Regarding claim 8, the orientation films are directed parallel to the substrates.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Takao et al. 4,917,471. Takao does not disclose the first, second, third thicknesses differing from each other by approximately 0.01 to 0.1 μm . However, Takao shows (see FIG. 2) the orientation film thickest over the blue filter and the thinnest over the red filter with the thickness of the orientation film over the green filter being in between. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention was made to use this range for the different thicknesses of the orientation film over each pixel in order to accommodate the different sizes of the color filters, and since it has been held that where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, discovering the optimum or working ranges involves only routine skill in the art. In re Aller, 105 USPQ 233.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1, 4-9, and 24-26 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Regarding the applicant's argument that Takao does not disclose the "first, second, and third thicknesses of the second orientation film corresponding to the blue, green, and red regions are each different", the Examiner does not find this argument persuasive. In FIG.2, Takao discloses color filters of varying heights wherein an overlying second orientation film 17 has different thicknesses based on the varying heights of the color filters. The "thickest" color filter B has the thickest orientation film, the less "thick" middle color filter G has a slightly less thick orientation film, and the least "thick" color filter R has an even slightly less thick orientation film. Even though these thicknesses are close to each other, it is indisputable from FIG. 2 that the second alignment film does have different thicknesses over different color filters with the most thick alignment film over the "most thick" color filters and the least thick alignment film over the "least thick" color filters.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 2815
